"It is not immoral for a woman to smoke cigarettes. Some of the hest women in the country and in the world smoke cigarettes. It wouldn't make any difference if she had a thousand packages of cigarettes. This is not Hickaville, out in the center of the Ohio farm country."

Shed tears for the hapless young 'amp" of the films, for misfortune has sauntered her way; no more may she practice her wiles and her white on the man she beguiles in the play. Oh, sad is her lot and her future is not of the golden-bright promise of yore. The law has stepped in and her fetchingest sin becomes commonplace, dull—nothing more.

Financiers to Help Continue Work of Carry-On Club Alfred Cortot, Piano Soloist,

Mrs. Wendell Phillips, in Appeal for Permanent Organization, Tells of Aid to 2,000 Soldiers

The concert given by the Philadelphia Orchestra last evening at Carriege Hall, with Alfred Cortot, pianist, as soloist, was altogether memorable. Late comers, who hoped to purchase seats, were met with "Standing Room Only." Those already in possession of tickets found that there had been a change in the program.

Plans for the permanent organizaion of the Carry On Club were tentaively made yesterday at a conference men and representatives of the United in the furthering of the work of the Carry On association.

Frank Presbrey presided at the conference, which was attended by Bishop Charles Sumner Burch, Ogden Mills, William C. Breed, Charles Sabin, Charles D. Hillis, Father Francis Kelly, national chaplain of the American Legion; R. G. Chomeley Jones, director of War Risk Insurance; Uel Lambkin, director of the Federal Board for Vocational Education; Colonel W. C. Rucker, chief medical adviser of the War Risk Insurance Board; the Rev. Wilton Merle-Smith, T. A. Ball, F. L. Robbins, Parker Sloane, Walter Stabler, Joseph E. See and Michael Dreicer.

Mrs. Philipps said the Carry On Club had so far assisted nearly 2,000 disabled soldiers to regain their footing in civil life. Many of these men, she said, had been at one time practically destitute on the streets, close to starvation and potential Bolshevists. Nine thousand men could be taken care of in New York alone, she said, if necessary backing was forthcoming.

Uel Lambkin gave some statistics on the work of the Vocational Education Board, and Colonel Rucker told of the work which remained to be done among of tickets found that there had been a change in the program.

Instead of Schumann's Concerto M. Cortot had decided to play Rachmaninoff's Third Concerto in D minor, the noble work played by the composer himself at a recent concert of the Symphony Society.

Mr. Stokowski had therefore wisely changed Mendelssohn's "Hebrides" overture to shorter and lighter work, Smetana's overture to "The Bartered Bride." Tschaikowsky's Fifty Symphony remained on the program. According to the management, netice of these changes was sent the press last Wednesday. But the word was never received, and the Russian work came as a delightful surprise.

Mr. Rachmaninoff's Third Concerto ranks high among the masterpieces of musical literature.

An unfortunate prejudice exists against introducing the figure of Christ into modern drama, but the German playwright on whose work "The Light of the World" is founded has hit upon the ingenious expedient of weaving a story about the man who plays Christus in the Passion Play.
